WANTED at this Office, an intelligent young man, of steady, industrious habits, as an apprentice to the printing business.

OUR JOB OFFICE.—We call the attention of our friends, and the mercantile fraternity especially, to the fact that we have the facilities for turning out all kinds of Job Work, from a card to a large poster. Call and examine specimens of our work. Our prices are as low as any office in this section can afford, and our work will bear comparison with the best.

LOCAL NEWS.—We invite from our friends contributions of local intelligence. There are always occurring in every community many events, which, if concisely stated and published, would be of interest. We wish any one, possessing knowledge of such events, to give us early information of the same. We want a free correspondent in every village in the county, so that every event of sufficient interest for publication may find its way to our columns, and enable our readers to learn every week the news of the county, complete. Information of marriages and deaths is always welcome.

The blood-stained roll of casualties which is given in to-day's TRANSCRIPT, contains the names of many friends and acquaintances. No one can read it without feeling that this cruel war is depriving this whole country of the flower of its youth and manhood, and that the sacrifice of the best blood of the land is fearfully great. And yet the work is not done and the sacrifice is not complete.

The small store owned by W. O. Gendron, Esq., and formerly occupied by Miss Beattie, has been taken by Dr. S. R. Day, Agent, on a five years lease, and thoroughly and tastefully fitted up for a druggist's establishment. Dr. Day has secured the services of Mr. Charles B. Green as clerk, under the tuition of Doctors Day and Leonard, has become quite a proficient in the responsible business of druggist. Dr. Day continues his practice and while responding to professional calls, the drug-store will be in charge of Mr. Green. Dr. Day's advertisement will be found in another column.

Among the list of those officially reported among the killed in recent battles in Virginia, we regret to see the name of Andrew Stevens, a private in Co. I, 10th Vermont Infantry. He was well known in St. Albans where his mother, sisters and brother have long resided. Andrew Stevens was a bright and vivacious, full of life and spirit. He was a brave soldier and did his duty manfully.

The earth seems to be parching for want of rain. The strawberry crop is suffering severely, and will not be as good as in favorable seasons. The grass crop which got a vigorous start in the early spring from timely rains is not, probably, very seriously retarded yet, but it is feared it will be to ripen without thickening at the bottom, and thus yield less than was expected.

Everything in field and garden is suffering from the effects of the drouth, and a long, soaking rain is especially desirable in this part of the country.

St. Albans is furnishing at its depot for cavalry service, horses in large numbers. They come from all parts of North Western Vermont and Canada. Since March 17, 1864, at least a thousand horses have been accepted by the Government inspectors and shipped from St. Albans. For these Government pays to contractors ranging from $133 to $145.

It has finally become a fixed fact that the three hundred dollar communion clause in the existing conscript act will not be repealed at the present session of Congress.

The "Summit House," on Mansfield Mountain is open for guests, and under the superintendence of Mr. William P. Walker, formerly of St. Albans, and more recently an assistant at the American Hotel, Burlington—a pleasant place for the post.

It seems probable that the adjournment of Congress will take place at the first of July.

At the General U. S. Hospital at Montpelier there are in all 300 wounded soldiers; 125 of them from Maine, and 175 from the Vermont Regiments. Additional surgeons, nurses and cooks are greatly needed.

The Vermont 2d Infantry, whose time expired on the 20th inst., will be mustered out of service at Brattleboro' immediately.

Mr. Edward C. Gallar is making preparations to build a good dwelling house on Fairfield Street, nearly opposite the residence of Mr. Andrew Barton.

The death of the Hon. Lewis W. Sowles, of West Alburgh, will be found under the appropriate head. Judge Sowles was lately one of the judges of Grand Isle County for two years, and always held a high position in the vicinity where he dwelt. He was a native of Alburgh and always resided in that town. His loss will long be lamented by a large circle of relatives and friends. His funeral was held on Tuesday, June 21st, and was largely attended.

THE VERMONT DELEGATION AT BALTIMORE.—Vermont was fully represented by all the delegates elected, and some of the alternates were also present, ready to act should there be occasion. Of the alternates present were Messrs. Kittredge, of St. Johnsbury, and Howe of Shoreham. The Vermont press was represented by Messrs. Benedict and Bigelow of Burlington, both of whom were admitted to reporters seats on the floor. The delegates from Vermont were Senator Foot, who was the chairman and organ of the delegation, and who also was consulted in reference to the Presidency of a candidate; Mr. Walton, who was assigned to the committee on rules and order of business; Mr. Noyes, who was also assigned to an important committee, but declined in consequence of indisposition; Mr. Hammond, who was assigned to the committee on credentials; Mr. Gardner, who was assigned to the committee on permanent organization, and appointed on the National Executive committee; Messrs. Bartolomew and Fairbanks, of the second district, the last named being Secretary of the delegation, and also one of the Secretaries of the Convention; and Messrs. Barlow and Stowell of the third district, Judge Stowell being one of the Vice Presidents of the Convention, and Mr. Barlow a member of the committee to inform President Lincoln of his nomination.

The foregoing particulars are contributed by Mr. Walton from Baltimore to the Daily Transcript.

The entire delegation voted for Abraham Lincoln for President, and on the question of who should receive the nomination for Vice President they were at first divided.

On the first ballot for Vice President the Vermont delegation voted as follows: Johnson 5, Hamlin 2, Butler 2, Dickinson 1. They are understood to have been thus divided:

For Andrew Johnson—Hunt, Bartolomew, Fairbanks, Barlow, Stowell, For Mr. Hamlin—Foot, Walton, For Gen. Butler—Noyes, Hammond, For Mr. Dickinson—Gardner.

Before the announcement of the final result, Senator Foot announced that Vermont cast her entire vote for Andrew Johnson of Tennessee.

Among the papers to be read before the Vermont Historical Society at its meeting in St. Johnsbury, June 23, 1864, is one by Rev. Phineas H. White, upon "Jonathan Arnold, the Founder of St. Johnsbury," in which will be presented many facts hitherto unpublished, but now brought to light by research among manuscripts of Mr. Arnold and his children.—Caledonian.

The appeal still comes for flannel shirts, flannel drawers, socks, old linen and cotton, old handkerchiefs, wines, jellies, and other delicacies, for the wounded Union soldiers. Therefore let not the noble effort of the ladies, or the liberal contributions of the other sex be relaxed. The battles of the last two weeks are but the first of a series we shall have to undergo, before this campaign is finished and the war ended. If our contributions are not needed now, they soon will be, and it is much better to have the needed articles on hand than to wait for them when they are wanted. Let us continue the good work even to the extent of some personal sacrifice if need be. Think how much more the soldier has sacrificed than it is possible for those to do who have remained at home.

A deputation of delegates from the Methodist Episcopal general conference, Philadelphia, visited the President lately, and presented to him an address in which the conference, representing nearly a million of members express to him the assurance of the loyalty of the church, her earnest devotion to the interest of the country, and her sympathies with him in the great responsibilities of his high position in this trying hour. They honor him for his proclamations of liberty, and rejoice in all the acts of the government designed to secure freedom to the enslaved. In conclusion they say: "actuated by sentiments of the loftiest and purest patriotism, our prayer shall be continually for the preservation of our country undivided, for the triumph of our cause and for a permanent peace gained by the sacrifice of no moral principles, but founded on the word of God, and securing righteousness, liberty and equal rights to all."

The Executive Committee of the National Democratic Committee have voted that the Democratic National Convention at Chicago be postponed till August 29.

NEWS SUMMARY.
Fifty years ago, it is said, there was no such thing in St. Louis as a common well-pump, or dory, or a wheelbarrow, or an ice house.
A spark from a lighted cigar burned over about fifty acres of woodland near Roslyn, Long Island, lately.
Gas meters must be kept plumb if you wish to measure correctly. Lunning forward they measure too little, and leaning backward too much.
Gen. Grant was forty-two years old on Thursday last. He is a remarkable case of forty-two. He threatens the rebels like "forty" too.
The Springfield Republican says Gen. Butler understands how to defend himself better against the charges of the newspaper than against those of Beauregard.
The Messrs. Fairbanks have nearly completed the cellar and foundation of a new scale shop, to be brick, three stories high, and situated at the north extremity of their group of shops, where the old boarding house formerly stood.
A bill has passed the Connecticut Legislature providing for a fine of $25 upon railroad companies that neglect to carry a certain quantity of good drinking water in passenger cars.
Secretary Stanton has set apart a portion of Gen. Lee's Arlington estate as a cemetery for our soldiers dying in Virginia. The estate is now cultivated by a colony of free negroes. Such is one of the fit retributions of the war.
It is said that physicians in good standing are wanted immediately by the medical directory of the East for contract United States service in Washington, the West, the Gulf, and the army general hospital near New York.

Win. Lloyd Garrison was one of the spectators at the Baltimore Convention. He visited the jail wherein he was imprisoned thirty-four years ago, for his testimony against the divinity of slavery.
The late resolution of Congress for the printing of ten thousand copies of the official reports of the armies of the United States since December, 1860, will make a large job of printing. The reports will make ten octavo volumes of 800 pages each.

The Cincinnati Gazette says a two-thirds crop of winter wheat may be calculated on from at least ten central and northwestern states; and of spring wheat there will be a greater yield than ever before, both on account of the greater breadth of ground sown and the favorable weather for its growth.

Two peddlers in Pennsylvania have invented a new and profitable line of business. One of them travels a day in advance of the other, and refused to receive notes of a certain bank as worthless, and the people gladly trade with the other, who said he would take the notes, as he was in debt to the bank.

In boring for salt water at Peoria, Ill. the drill has reached the depth 776 feet. At 120 feet a five-foot seam of coal was found; at 207, salt water; at 225, another stratum of coal three feet in thickness; at 734, a large stream of water impregnated with sulphur. This water flows upward with such force as to lift the heavy weights attached to the drill, and discharges 75,000 gallons every twenty-four hours.

A Washington dispatch to the Journal says the widow of the late ex-President John Tyler has written to President Lincoln complaining that Gen. Wild has arrested a slave owner who had been flogging his female chattels, and that the General had him tied, and permitted the women to repay the blows with interest. Mrs. Tyler is indignant that a Virginia gentleman should have been treated thus.

The daughter of a wealthy Fifth Avenue man in New York, twenty years old and pretty, doped with a young man of rather weak intellect and only 17, last week. She insisted on having the matter done up by elopement, and the swain consented, but he is in trouble now, as he cannot support himself, much less his wife, whose angry father-father-in-law does not give her a cent.
The new cents recently authorized to be issued have appeared. They are made almost entirely of copper. The circumference of the new coin is the same as that of the nickel cents, but they are thinner and much lighter. It is hoped that their comparative cheapness will prevent hoarding, and when they become plenty, those who find pleasure in such an amusement, will be able again to jingle money in their pockets.

A meeting of ladies in favor of the plan of retrenchment was held recently in Chicago. The meeting was well attended, but the Times says: "The appearance of many ladies showed that up to the present time the economical movement had not been adopted. Pretty 'loves' of bonnets, trimmed with tasteful or the most gaudy of ribbons, were to be seen in all directions. Silk dresses rustled all over the hall, while several wore handsome lace shawls and cloaks certainly the product of foreign looms."

Woodstock is now looking its best, and go where you will you cannot find a more beautiful village. Its streets, delightfully shaded, are always kept free of rubbish, its side-walks are of the best, its fences and buildings are kept tidy and in good repair, and generally it possesses an air of healthy prosperity. To all we would say come and see us. Our charming village must be seen to be appreciated.—Vermont Standard.
